LEDiL's global way of working during coronavirus measures

Health and safety of our personnel, clients, partners and all related family members together with authorities recommendations for additional safety measures are a top priority to LEDiL. Finland's government has decided to follow the guidelines that are practiced by several countries: restricting movement and close contact with the purpose to prevent the spread of coronavirus. We place our full focus on complying with various government requirements on global basis.

Due to coronavirus and the increasing risk of infection globally, LEDiL has limited its travelling to absolute minimum, changed its visiting practices not to allow regular visits at our operations, enabled remote working opportunities for employees and switched to online communication. Our business continues normally, utilizing an increasing amount of digital communication. Virtual tools and technology allows us to continue to professionally and effectively interact with our customers and partners promoting joint projects and assignments. At the same time, we make sure that health and safety of all of us is our number one priority.

Despite of global challenges in logistics and transportation, there are no foreseeable, major delays arising from the current situation at our own operations and we are busy exploring new options to enable timely supply and to provide you with all information you may need, in a virtual way.

We are all here for you! All LEDiL functions are working full speed and we ensure deliveries and goods are on time.

Stay tuned for new things we have in store for you and let's stay in touch.
