WPG Americas Partnership with indie Revs Up Automotive Semiconductor Revolution

San Jose, Calif. July 2, 2025 - WPG Americas Inc. (WPGA), a leading distributor of electronic components and supply chain services, is pleased to announce a new distribution partnership with indie (Nasdaq: INDI), an automotive solutions innovator.

This collaboration brings WPGA customers access to indie's highly innovative and energy-efficient technology portfolio, specifically designed for advanced driver-assistance systems (ADAS) and user experience and driver safety enhancement applications in the automotive industry.

Key highlights of the partnership include:

1. Enhanced ADAS Solutions: Advanced sensor fusion utilizing highly integrated SoCs and software for computer vision and radar as well as processing technologies to enable WPGA customers to develop more sophisticated safety features and reliable driver assistance systems.
2. Improved User Experience: State-of-the-art solutions for in-vehicle infotainment, and ADAS solutions for convenience, including driver and occupant monitoring (DMS/OMS), parking assistance and adaptive cruise control, enhancing the overall driving experience.
3. Expanded Market Reach: WPGA customers gain access to a complete range of automotive-grade semiconductors, photonics, and software solutions.

"We are excited to partner with indie and bring their innovative solutions to our customers," said Chris Miller, President of WPG Americas. "This partnership aligns perfectly with our commitment to providing leading-edge technologies that drive the future of automotive electronics."

"Our partnership with WPG Americas Inc. streamlines global fulfillment, leveraging their operations expertise and efficiency to serve our automotive customers' diverse manufacturing footprints," said Robert Bloomquist, Executive Vice President Global Sales at indie.
