

Dear Valued Customer,

We would like to provide you with an update regarding recent developments affecting U.S. tariffs and their potential impact on your business.

In late February 2026, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA) does not authorize the President to impose the 2025 IEEPA-based tariffs. Following this decision, U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP), in coordination with other government agencies, is currently evaluating the implications of the ruling, including the possibility of applicable tariff refunds.

The U.S. Court of International Trade (CIT) will ultimately determine the appropriate tariff relief. In response, WPG Americas has initiated the process of filing a petition with the CIT to support potential recovery efforts.

Should tariff reimbursements or refunds be issued to our company as a result of this process, it is our intention to review relevant transactions and reimburse impacted customers where appropriate. Please note that any administrative fees incurred by WPG Americas in connection with the recovery process will be deducted from the amounts refunded to customers.

At this time, the recovery process remains under legal and administrative review by CBP and the CIT. As such, the outcome, timing, and potential reimbursement amounts remain uncertain. We are therefore unable to provide a definitive timeline or establish a reimbursement request process at this stage.

WPG Americas will continue to closely monitor developments and will share updates as more information becomes available.

We appreciate your continued partnership and understanding.

Sincerely,
WPG Americas
